DIAMOND FIELDS ADVERTISER, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, 1968

Five dozen Rhodesian singers will present a musical show "Sing Out Rhodesia" at the Kimberley Theatre tonight. They are making a tour of the country. Seen here are some of the gang. 2100

YOUNG RHODESIANS TO PUT ON SHOW IN CITY

SIXTY Rhodesian youths will sing at the Kimberley Theatre on Monday. September 9. when they present their musical show "Sing-Out Rhodesia," Rhodesian edition of "Springbok Stampede."

Earlier this year the South African show "Springbok Stampede" played to two packed houses in the Kimberley Theatre. In July they toured Rhodesia and played in Balla Balla, Bulawayo, Wankie, Gwelo, Que Que, Salisbury, Umtali and Fort Victoria. They also sang to Mr. Ian Smith at his office in Salisbury. As a result of the "Springbok Stampede" tour similar groups have sprung up in Rhodesia and (tries are aligned to resist a comless than a month after the departure of "Springbok Stampede" 60 young Rhodesians crossed the Limpopo with their own original show "Sing-Out Rhodesia." They express in lively song and choreography their aspirations for the future.

COMMON THREAT

They come to Kimberley from Cape Town. Their tour will have taken in Johannesburg, Waterkloof air base, Vereeniging, Escourt, Durban, East London, Grahamstown and Oudtshoorn.

The members of the two casts, South African and Rhodesian. say: "At the moment our coun-mon threat. We believe we need equally to be aligned in a common task on the African conti-nent. We have a vast reservoir of skills here in the South and we want in the next 20 years to see Southern Africa help the development of the whole African continent for the good of all who live in it."

The performance on September 9 in the Kimberley Theatre will be at 8 p.m. Booking is at Douglas Pope sports shop. The tour of "Sing-Out Rhodesia" is being sponsored by "Springbok Stampede" an affiliate of Moral Rearmament.