

Many Nationalities Meet in Basutoland

JOHANNESBURG.

Delegates from Zambia, Rhodesia, South Africa, Basutoland, Bechuanaland and Swaziland have gathered at Roma, Basutoland, for a two-week "Conference for Tomorrow's Africa," sponsored by Moral Re-Armament, a spokesman for Moral Re-Armament said here.

Black, White, Coloured and

Asian men and women are participating and joint chairmen of the conference are Dr. William Nkomo, of Pretoria, and Mr. Bremer Hofmeyr, of Johannesburg, the spokesman said.

Mr. D. T. L. Gill, a former Editor of the Daily Rep. and now news Editor of the Pretoria News, is among those attending.

SPEAKERS

Speakers will include the Rev. Seth Mokitimi, President of the Methodist Conference of South Africa; Mr. S. V. Petersen, noted Afrikaans poet and winner of many national awards; Mr. E. R. Silberbauer, Director of the Bantu Wages and Productivity Association, who has just returned from a visit to America under the leader exchange programme; Mr. B. Hofmeyr, who has worked in 20 African countries and just come from Nigeria.

WORKSHOPS

The conference will include workshops for drama, journalism, music and homecrafts. The drama workshop will write and produce plays dealing with the answer to the turmoils of modernisation. After production at the conference, the plays will be taken to other parts of Basutoland before the elections, the spokesman said. — Sapa.
