Risked career to be in M.R.A. play

Mr. Justice Claassen, publicly announced last night that he had risked everything, including his judicial career, so as to associate himself with the Moral Rearmament Movement.

He made this announcement after taking part in the M.R.A. production of the play "The Ladder" by Peter Howard, held at the Baker Memorial Hall in Pretoria.

"For me to stand here on a public stage is most unusual for a judge of the Supreme Court," said Mr. Claassen. "But I am convinced that this movement offers the only real solution to the problems of men and nations.

"I am accordingly prepared to stand by my convictions—whatever the consequences."
